Become a DVRT volunteer for your local police department, in collaboration with Providence House Domestic Violence Services of Catholic Charities.

Volunteers receive free training (40 hours) where they will learn how to work with the police and provide information, support and referrals to victims at police departments.

Please call for the Upcoming Schedule

For more information contact Tiffany Rozelle: 856-824-0599 x8606 or Ask to speak to the Domestic Violence Liaison Officer at your local Police Department to receive an application.
Become a part of the Ocean County Domestic Violence Response Team and work in partnership with the Ocean County Prosecutor’s Office, your local police department, and Providence House.

The goal of the Domestic Violence Response Team (DVRT) volunteer is to provide crisis intervention and emotional support to victims of domestic violence at the local police department. Volunteers assist victims in developing safety plans and provide necessary information and referrals.

Volunteers are required to attend 40 hours of training over 9 weeks. All prospective volunteers undergo a background check and interview process, and must be at least 18 years of age, have a valid NJ driver’s license, and available transportation. Volunteers for the program must apply for the position before training can begin.

A 40-hour training will be scheduled to begin when there are enough people interested. For more information and to obtain an application, please contact:
