A. Building Linkages at the Intersection of Sexual Violence and Domestic Violence

Research indicates common risk and protective factors are shared between domestic violence and sexual violence. As partners in the movement to end violence in NJ, this track invites the leadership and program staff from the domestic violence and sexual assault coalitions and their respective member agencies to collaboratively build and strengthen our linkages around two specific areas at the intersections: services and data.

Workshop 1: Assessing our collective capacity to meet survivor’s needs

Jyoti Venketraman, Director of Special Initiatives, NJCASA

This workshop will allow participants to reflect on how we can collectively bridge the gaps in services. Workshop is structured as facilitated conversation. Participants will gain a deeper understanding of survivor needs and exchange best practices on serving survivors at the intersection of sexual and domestic violence.

2.5 DVS Credits: Community Resources, Networking & Advocacy

Workshop 2: Envisioning Data Collaboration at the Intersection: An Example of Bridging the Gap on Data

Patricia Teffenhart, Executive Director, NJCASA

Data collaboration enhances the opportunities by which our two movements can best serve survivors. This workshop will be structured as a moderated panel discussion with speakers from Vision 21. Speakers will share the progress and vision behind this initiative and the expected outcomes. This will be followed by a facilitated listening session so panelists can hear from the audience on data needs.

2.5 DVS Credits: Organizing for Change

B. Financial Management through Storytelling, Part I

Regina Podhorin, MPA

Numbers really do tell a story if you know how to truly read a spreadsheet or general ledger report. Do you sometimes stare at the rows and columns and wonder what you might be missing? Does reviewing the audit make you nervous? This session will make fiscal management easier and infinitely more enjoyable. Using actual examples of financial reports we will break the code and elicit the real story behind the numbers. This session will also get you ready for that next grant or board meeting by allowing you to translate program/agency strategies into meaningful fiscal language. No previous

C. The Liberation Skills & Strategies Training, Part 1

Yvette D. Murrell, BA, James Murrell, Ph.D

The Liberation Skills and Strategies training introduces a framework and tools for fostering greater awareness and capacity to assess the specific ways that oppression and dehumanization interfere with healthy relationships and organizational effectiveness. Training participants learn the characteristics of skills that are aligned with developing more humanized, effective and health-promoting communications and relationship building among staff and between staff and clients for overall greater effectiveness in meeting organizational goals, and learning strategies to foster the practice of those skills.

2.5 DVS Credits: Diversity, & 2.5 Values and Attitudes
